

As usual you have included extracts from the submissions of Quad Bike users that suit your predetermined outcome. Those that have experienced accidents.

There seems very little from the vast majority of us who have not had accidents.

Quad Bikes are not dangerous ... just get into a shipping container with one and also a king brown snake, three metre croc. and find out!!!!

It's the small percentage of "IDIOTS" riding them that is the problem!!!!

The sooner this country accepts that individuals need to start taking responsibility for themselves the better.

This blaming someone else for everything that moves coupled with chain of responsibility nonsense all needs burying.

I have ridden Quad Bikes for years and if I ever roll one it will be my fault not the bike or it's manufacturer.
